

If you are planning to use Canva to create type/graphics for your yearbook, here's a list of fonts we've found that are common to both eDesign and Canva.

Please be aware of a few details:

- Fonts can vary by source even if they have the same name, so these fonts may be slightly different in each platform.
- You may need either a Canva Pro or Canva for Education license to access some of these fonts.
- When you generate type in Canva and publish it back into eDesign, it is converted to a graphic. To edit that graphic, you have to return to the Canva platform, adjust and re-export a new graphic.
- We recommend using type in Canva for headline packages and larger applications, not for body copy.
- Type exported out of Canva becomes a graphic, so eDesign's spell-check and indexing do not apply.

Special thanks to Laura Plate, adviser at Seckinger HS (Buford, GA) for compiling this list in summer 2024.
